HOTEL FIRE HORROR.

Hundred Guests Hemmed In by Flames at an Early Morning Hour.

AT LEAST TEN PERSONS CREMATED.

Scores Leaped From Lofly Windows to Be Dashed Against the Pavement, Below, Sickening Scenes in the Streets.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Feb. 20.—Ten lives, according to the best information obtainable under difficulties, were lost in a fire which destroyed the Clifton hotel in this city. The fire started at 2:30 a. m., and at 10 o'clock the smoldering debris furnished so fierce a heat that search for bodies was impossible. The list of dead may prove larger than the number given, but it is hoped that the information, which accounts for all but this number, is correct. Two persons were fatally injured and two score or more injured more or less severely, mostly by jumping from windows. The work of learning the names of the dead is rendered difficult by the loss of the hotel register, which was burned.

The hotel, a three-story brick veneer structure, is said to have been a veritable fire trap. The flames started in a pile of rubbish in the basement, presumably ignited by defective electric light wires. The night clerk was on the third floor when the cry of "Fire!" raised by a bellboy, startled him. He took up the cry, and in an instant the hallways were choked with frightened guests. A rush was made for the stairways. It was then that the crowd, already collected in the street, heard heartrending cries of anguish and desperation, for the fire, feeding ravenously on the tinder-like material of the lower floor, had completely cut off escape. There followed a stampede for the windows, the only means of exit left.

The fire originated in the basement, presumably from an electric light wire. Night Clerk Wilson was on the third floor at the time. The flames were discovered by a bellboy, and had already gained considerable headway. By the time the night clerk had been notified and the work of sounding the alarm had begun, escape was cut off from the ground floor. Instantly there were several faces at every window of the guests, clad only in their night robes, wildly calling for help. The facilities of the fire department were meagre, and each moment's delay increased the panic that had already prevailed. One after another the human forms were seen to hurl themselves from the windows and dash against the pavement below. Limbs were broken, and the writhing mass of humanity that rapidly accumulated constituted a sickening sight. Those who jumped from the third-story windows had little hope of surviving the frightful leap, but few hesitated as the flames came nearer and nearer.

Outside the work of rescue was carried forward rapidly. A vast crowd was attracted by the flames and wildly sought information concerning friends in the burning structure. The hotel was a seething furnace, and it was impossible to attempt rescue by entering the building. The injured were conveyed to adjoining houses that had been converted into impromptu hospitals. The fire department confined its efforts to preventing the spread of the flames. Several times the National hotel caught fire, but the fire there was extinguished.

The State Y. M. C. A. convention was in progress in Cedar Rapids at the time, and a district Knights of Pythias convention. Delegates to these constituted most of the injured and missing. It is stated that there must be 15 or 20 bodies in the debris, as large numbers of persons had been seen to fall back from the windows into the flames. The proprietors of the hotel also estimate there must be close to this number unaccounted for.

The Victims. The bodies of W. A. Mowry and an unknown woman were taken from the ruins. The bodies were frightfully charred. Other charred remains taken later from the ruins remain unidentified.

Fatally injured: Vina Burns, head waitress, jumped from third story; L. C. Burnett, Nebraska City, Neb., terribly burned; Dr. S. C. Grove, Cedar Rapids, terribly burned while hanging to fire escape; R. E. Strickland, Clinton, Ia., jumped from third-story window; leg broken and injured internally.

Seriously injured: Sinda Williams, waitress; Lizzie Kelly, waitress; F. C. Outing, Center Point; E. Smith, waitress; H. W. Bremer, Lyons, Ia.; F. R. Moore, Chicago; Beatrice, Netolicky, Shueyville, Ia.; J. H. Winniger, Waterloo; J. E. Anderson, Chicago; A. S. Farrow, Boone, Ia.; F. G. Gardiner, Woodburn, Ia.; D. F. Taylor, Davenport, Ia.; Louis Thompson, Cedar Rapids; A. M. Larsen, Oelwein; C. W. Roberts, Cedar Rapids; L. O. Vernon, Delta, Ia.; May Beel, waitress; N. P. Hoover, Tama, Ia.; T. J. Zamy, Canton, Ill.; J. A. Elar, Davenport; C. L. Benedict, G. P. Hawes, Decorah, Ia.; F. O. Redmond, mail clerk, Tama, Ia.; N. O. Templeton, Monticello, Ia.; Geo. Taggart, St. Paul; James Lewis, colored porter; F. M. Gardner, Woodburn, Ia.; D. S. Taylor, Davenport; J. M. Dunbar, Monticello; John W. Lewis, Ottumwa; Cella Williams, waitress; C. F. Hamburg, Leroy, Minn.; R. C. McConahy, Aurora, Ill.; O. J. Lamb, Center Point, Ia.; G. F. Kaesser, Walker, Ia.; C. A. Roseman, Independence, Ia.

STOOD OFF THE POLICE. Negro Wanted For a Trivial Offense Is Shot to Death. New Orleans, Feb. 20.—After holding half a hundred bluecoats at bay for several hours, during which scores of shots were exchanged, Lafayette Sims, a desperate negro, was killed by the police in a negro boarding house situated on South Rampart street. The room in which he was besieged had to be set on fire and the fire department called out before Sims could be driven from his post. As he attempted to escape, still carrying his gun, he was shot down. The body was taken to the morgue without any demonstration from a mob of several thousand negroes who crowded the vicinity of the tragedy. Intense excitement prevailed while the siege lasted. The origin of the trouble was trivial. Sims occupied a room in the boarding house, in which there were seven beds. On retiring he locked the door, and when the landlord asked him to open it so that another lodger might be admitted, Sims refused. Then the landlord sent for the police.

Typhoid Fever Rages. Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 20.—Sixteen new cases of typhoid fever have developed. None of them, however, was among the students of Cornell university. Three fever patients were discharged from Cornell infirmary and sent to their homes to convalesce. These were the first cases to recover in the epidemic. Although the departure of students has somewhat abated, students continue to leave town. Especially are the colleges of art and sciences and the school of law affected, less than one third of the regular law students remaining. There is no intention on the part of the trustees to close the university. As yet not one of the thousand absent students has returned to his work.

Three in Critical Condition. Newark, N. J., Feb. 20.—The victims of the collision between a trolley car and a Lackawanna train at the Canton-avenue crossing who are in the hospitals were all reported to be doing well, with three exceptions. Those whose conditions are not favorable are Peter Brady, the motorman of the wrecked car; Oscar Beckliffe, engineer of the Lackawanna train, and Miss Jennie McLelland, 16. The house surgeon said that Brady's death might occur at any time, although there was still a possibility of his recovery. The motorman is suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries.

Whaling Fleet Makes Ready. San Francisco, Feb. 20.—The steam whaling fleet is getting ready for sea as rapidly as possible. The Belvidere is now fitting out for her annual cruise. The Jeannette and William Bayless are on the dry dock, being thoroughly overhauled. The Morning Star, formerly a missionary ship, is rapidly undergoing conversion into a whaler. The gasoline schooner Monterey will also be fitted out as a whaler. On account of their light draught the Monterey, with the aid of her auxiliary power, is expected to go into waters inaccessible to the big whalers.

Strike Commission Meets. Washington, Feb. 20.—The anthracite coal commission resumed its meeting at the Interstate Commerce commission office. There was a general discussion of the work before the commission and of the general method of procedure in considering its preliminary to the actual framing of the award. There are numerous obstacles in the way of an early report that are anticipated by the commissioners, and it is conceded that questions may arise at any time that would necessitate another visit to the coal fields or elsewhere.

Protection of the President. Washington, Feb. 20.—The conferees on the bill for the protection of the president have agreed and their report was submitted to the house. The senate accepts the house amendment to the original bill, with some changes in the wording.

Big Blaze. Washington, Ind., Feb. 20.—Fire destroyed Carnahan & Co.'s big hardware store, Akerman's hotel and other business houses on the west side of the public square at Loogootee. Loss $100,000.

POPE LEO'S JUBILEE.

Venerable Pontiff Completes the Trying Functions Without Fatigue.

HAPPIEST DAY OF HIS LONG LIFE.

Americans Participate in the Elaborate Ceremonies at St. Peter's Church—Sketch of the Notable Event at Rome.

Rome, Feb. 20.—The pope completed the functions of his jubilee without undue fatigue. Upon returning to his apartments he exclaimed: "This is really the happiest day of my life." "It seems impossible that it is 25 years since I have been here," was Pope Leo's exclamation, as he looked from a window of his apartments in the sunlit piazza of St. Peter's. This was the pontiff's only reference to his long term of self-imposed imprisonment in the Vatican, during which he has never gone beyond the palace grounds and St. Peter's, which is considered to be part of the Vatican. "What a glorious morning for the jubilee of my pontificate!" the pope added as she proceeded, with evident pleasure, to peruse the almost innumerable telegrams, letters and addresses of congratulations which have reached the Vatican from all parts of the world.

There was a long and tedious wait before the ceremony commenced, and the audience was growing restless, when suddenly a great roar of "Long live Leo!" and "Long live the pope king!" announced the arrival of the pontiff. His Holiness was borne in the sedia gestatoria, on the shoulders of eight men habited in red brocade. The pope himself wore gorgeous robes and had the triple crown on his head. He bestowed his benediction right and left as he passed through the cheering concourse, whose enthusiasm was so great and whose desire to touch the hem of the pope's gown was so intense that the presence of the guards seemed really necessary for his protection.

In a procession, surrounded by such a brilliant escort of prelates, aristocracy and guards, Pope Leo always appears at his best. His feebleness and bent form are hidden, and the public sees only the venerable patriarch with cameo-like features and kindly smile. Subsequently the presentation of gifts occurred, including the gold tiara, the jubilee present of the Catholic world, which cost $25,000, the gold medal and symbolic keys. After bestowing the apostolic blessing, the pope returned to his apartments amid the enthusiastic plaudits of the multitude.

The hall of beatification, above the portico of St. Peter's, where the pontiff held his jubilee reception, presented a brilliant scene. It was beautifully hung with antique brocades and illuminated by thousands of electric lights and wax candles. The boxes lining the long, narrow hall were filled to their capacity with members of the Roman aristocracy, diplomats, women with black veils, men in evening dress, and monks and sisters in varying garb. Here and there groups of papal guards in bright uniforms lent color to the whole. Notable among the diplomats was Count Almodever, head of the special mission sent to represent the king of Spain at the jubilee.

Among the Americans present were Bishops Maurice Burke, of St. Joseph, Mo., and Edward Dunne, of Dallas, Tex.; Fathers S. P. McDonnell and Hugh O'Garra McShane, of Chicago, and Thomas O'Garra, of Wilmington, Ill.; Mrs. and Miss Choate and R. U. Johnson.

Arnold Safes Opened. St. Louis, Feb. 20.—The three steel safes in the turf investment offices of E. J. Arnold & Co. were opened. Two were found to contain only books and papers, and the contents of the third and largest have not been revealed. The legislative committee resumed its inquiry into the methods employed by co-operative concerns.

River News.

There will be packets up to-night for Pomeroy and Pittsburg. Stanley down Sunday.

When the towboat Joseph B. Williams was built in 1876, it was predicted that she was too large, and most rivermen were afraid of the craft, but, after several years of work, the steamer was finally got in good order. To-day she is regarded as one of the best, if not the best, steamboats that ever turned a wheel on the Ohio or Mississippi river.

Samuel L. Parson, Ambrose S. Leach and Gus H. Honshell, of West Virginia, have brought suit in the United States Circuit Court against Samuel Pennyweight, George L. Pennyweight and E. A. Crawford for $10,500 claimed to be due. The plaintiffs at one time were the owners of the steamer Helen M. Gould and sold her to the defendants for $14,000. This was last May, since when only $3,500 has been paid on the account.

Kentucky's Claim Included. The House Subcommittee on the Appropriations Committee has begun the work of framing the General Deficiency Appropriation bill. Representative Kehoe was informed by Chairman Cannon that the appropriation of $1,323,999.35 allowed the State of Kentucky by the Auditor of the War Department will be included in the bill.

Postoffice to Observe Monday as a Holiday. As Washington's birthday falls on Sunday, the postoffice, in accordance with the rules of the department, will observe Monday as a holiday. There will be one delivery and collection by the carriers at 7 a. m. The general delivery will close at 11 a. m. The registry and money order departments will be closed all day.

At Washington one night this week thieves raided the poultry houses of Miss Cornelia Browning and Miss Mary Ellen Holmes and stole most all their chickens.

Mr. Thos. N. Arnold, of Frankfort, is in the city to attend the tobacco fair, and is the guest of Messrs. Mose and Henry Daulton. Mr. Arnold is a prominent candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Through a desire to familiarize all with the new rule, we repeat that copy for changes in advertisements, to secure insertion in Monday's paper, must be in by 3 o'clock this afternoon. Merchants, be prompt and there'll be no disappointments. We have a mutual interest in going to press in time for the rural mails, and to be punctual we must have the co-operation of our patrons.

The Haymakers' minstrels scored a great success at the opera house last night. Standing room was in demand and the large audience enjoyed the program of music and minstrel specialties. As end men Phillips Barbour and Arthur Munzing were awarded the honors of the evening, although all the boys were good in their specialties. The receipts of the evening amounted to $331.

PHILIPPINE CURRENCY.

Favorable Report on the Bill as It Passed the Senate.

AUTHORIZED BY STRICT PARTY VOTE.

Provision For an International Commission Stricken Out—Proceedings of the House and Senate.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The house committee on insular affairs, by a strict party vote, authorized a favorable report on the Philippine currency bill as it passed the senate, but recommend that it be amended by striking out the senate provision for an international commission, also by inserting at the end of section 3 the following:

"Provided, that debts contracted prior to the 31st day of December, 1903, may be paid in the legal tender currency of said islands existing at the time of the making of said contracts unless otherwise expressly provided by contract."

A resolution was adopted by the house to print 24,000 copies of the memorial address on the late President McKinley delivered in the house a year ago by Secretary of State Hay, 16,000 for the use of the house and 8,000 for the use of the senate. Several other printing resolutions were adopted.

Mr. Overstreet (Ind.) called up the report of the conferees on the bill for the protection of the president, which was adopted without division. The consideration of the Philippine currency bill, with senate amendments, was set for Tuesday next. The house then proceeded to the consideration of the fortifications appropriation bill.

In the Senate. Washington, Feb. 20.—The senate met behind closed doors. The Panama canal treaty was immediately laid before the senate. Senator Morgan yielded the floor to Senator Burton (Rep.), an advocate of the omnibus statehood bill. He spoke especially of the importance of the passage of that measure, only indirectly referring to the treaty. His contention was that while the canal treaty might be a meritorious measure, the statehood bill was equally so, and that it should be voted upon.

Senator Quay made complaint of the publication concerning the Republican caucus, and Senator Hoar said that the caucus discussions were not for the newspapers. Senator Burton referred only briefly to the caucus, and then made an argument of an hour and a half's duration in support of the admission of the three proposed states. Mr. Dubois (Idaho) followed with a speech in criticism of the treaty and of what he characterized as the summary action of the Republican caucus. He complained that the caucus had tried to force a vote upon the senate on a measure that had not been considered at all, and said this could not be done.

Senator Quay rose to a question of personal privilege. He sent to the desk and had read an article from a New York paper accusing him of violating a pledge which the paper stated he had made in the Republican caucus to support the treaty to the exclusion of every other subject. He said such was not the case, but that on the contrary he had protested to the last in the caucus of any action looking to the displacement of the statehood bill.

Cortelyou Attended. Washington, Feb. 20.—Secretary Cortelyou attended his first cabinet meeting as the head of the new department of commerce and labor. He was given a cordial welcome. Including Secretary Cortelyou, six of the nine members of the cabinet are lawyers, the other lawyers being Secretaries Hay, Root, Shaw, Moody and Attorney General Knox. At the meeting there was no discussion of the details of the new department. The new secretary reported that it was in "a flourishing condition, but a trifle cramped for quarters." In a day or two Secretary Cortelyou will communicate with congress his recommendations as to the new department.

Invitation Accepted. Washington, Feb. 20.—At the opening of the session the speaker laid before the house the invitation of the St. Louis exposition commission and the exposition company to the congress to be present at the dedicatory exercises April 30-May 2, 1903. Mr. Tawney (Minn.) offered a joint resolution, which was adopted, accepting the invitation on behalf of the congress and providing for the appointment of a committee of seven senators and eleven representatives to represent the two houses.

John A. Schultz, 80, was run down by a Big Four passenger train in Miamisburg, O., and instantly killed.

IMPROVEMENT OF THE OHIO RIVER.

It is surprising that the Representative of any Congressional district bordering on the Ohio river should be found throwing any impediment in the way of the proposed improvement of this magnificent waterway. General Shattuc represents one of the Cincinnati districts in the House at Washington City. The Queen City is as vitally interested in the improvement of the Ohio as any city between Pittsburg and Cairo, yet General Shattuc came out in an interview a few days ago throwing a damper on the project, and discouraging those who are engaged in the movement to secure a nine-foot stage from the source to the mouth of the stream. He advises the people to look at the matter "in a reasonable, and not hysterical, manner," and says it will be impossible to secure the desired appropriation, unless appropriations are made for the improvement of all the other rivers and harbors in the United States. If there has been any more "hysterical" talk on the subject than General Shattuc's, we have failed to see it. He knows, or ought to know, there is not another river in the United States that can present such claims for improvement as the Ohio. General Shattuc should do as he advises others to do—consider the question "in a reasonable, and not hysterical manner."

If the General will only give the subject a little investigation, he will find that the territory bordering on the Ohio, and interested to a greater or less extent in the improvement of the river, embraces the center of the population of the country: it embraces the center of the manufacturing interests; it embraces the center of the agricultural interests; it contains more than one-fourth of the entire population of the country; it produces over 20 per cent. of the live stock of the United States, about 25 per cent. of the agricultural products, nearly the entire output of coal, nearly 75 per cent. of the tobacco, about 75 per cent. of the eggs and poultry, and 75 per cent. of all the manufactured products.

In its present unimproved condition the Ohio is unsurpassed by any other stream of similar length as a means of transportation. It far outranks even the Mississippi and surpasses the great lakes in many respects. According to the eleventh census, the tonnage of the rivers of the entire Mississippi valley was 3,393,379. Of this tonnage the Ohio river alone contributed 2,440,881. The value of this tonnage was $15,335,005 for the entire Mississippi valley, and of this total the Ohio contributed $6,957,513. The transportation system of which the Ohio is a part, embracing the Allegheny, Monongahela, Muskingum, Little Kanawha, Big Kanawha, Big Sandy, Kentucky, Green, Wabash, Cumberland and Tennessee, contributed 2,920,468 of the 3,393,379 tonnage of the entire Mississippi valley. The Ohio system transported 6,503,143 of the 10,858,894 passengers for the Mississippi valley, and handled 16,041,866 tons of the 29,405,046 tons of freight. The Ohio alone transported nearly 8,000,000 tons of freight and over 5,000,000 of the passengers. Of the 7,453 craft engaged in transportation business in the Mississippi valley, 6,245 were engaged on the Ohio system and of these 4,868 on the Ohio alone.

The tonnage of the great lakes and St. Lawrence river, including Lake Champlain, was by the census of 1890 only 926,355 compared with a tonnage of 2,440,881 for the Ohio river alone, and 2,920,468 for the Ohio and tributaries. The freight moved on the lakes system amounted to 53,424,432 tons, and the number of passengers transported was 2,323,132, compared with over 16,000,000 tons of freight and over 6,500,000 passengers on the Ohio.

When other streams can back up their claims for improvement by such statistics as these, then Congress can be expected to treat them all alike.

A WHITE SALE

Usually when merchants want to emphasize a special sale of any kind they offer to give more for the money than you can possibly get elsewhere. Now we propose to do just exactly the reverse. The lawns, dimities, organdies, laces and embroideries we will have on sale this week are so fine and sheer, in buying them you will get less weight and thickness than you could easily procure elsewhere for the same amount of money. All the desirable white fabrics are here—the best of each kind and the prettiest we could find. This spring and summer will be pre-eminently a white season. White shirtwaists and gowns will be more popular than ever. A sensible popularity it is. White fears neither sun nor wash.

Fashions for cotton goods are now assured and this is a good time for sewing—before the lassitude of spring and the rush of house cleaning. These are some of the favorite fabrics:

EASTERN CAPITAL

Back of the Columbus—Maysville Electric Railway Project.

The Appleyard Syndicate of Boston May Build This Road—It Would Traverse a Fine Territory.

[Washington C. H. (O.) Record, Feb. 19th.]

By a transaction which was closed in this city Friday, Washington C. H. is promised a street railway system connecting the widely separated districts of the city and serving the further purpose of forming a terminal for interurban lines which may come into this city, and also forecasts the early completion of the Appleyard line from Columbus to this city.

The deal was the transfer of the franchise held by S. W. Cissna, James McLean, Captain E. A. Ramsey and J. W. Willis, all well-known residents of this city, to Frank Brandon, of Lebanon, and Frank Johnson, of this city, as trustees for the Appleyard syndicate. The latter company put up a bond of $25,000, guaranteeing that the system will be completed and have cars running by the first of July next.

The Appleyard syndicate, of which Arthur E. Appleyard, of Boston, is the head, is rapidly progressing with the construction of the line which it has proposed to build to this city. It is in connection with this line that the local street railway system will be operated. The interurban road has been completed as far as Harrisburg and has cars running to that point, which is almost on the line between Franklin and Pickaway counties. The company has just completed a bridge over Darby creek at that point, at a cost of $75,000, preparatory to extending the line along the proposed route. The facts and the bonded guarantee that cars will be running here by July 1, point to an early completion of the line. Mr. Cissna states that he is assured of a speedy and satisfactory culmination of these plans.

When seen by the Record at his office at the Peoples' and Drivers Bank Mr. Frank Johnson stated that the project is more far reaching than appears at first blush. While the local system is to be built and operated by the Appleyard syndicate it is not to be exclusively used by that company. The primary object of the local line is to furnish a terminal for the road at this point already in the process of establishment, and to any other interurban electric railway that may be promoted to this city, especially the road proposed to reach here by the route embracing Hillsboro, Sardinia, Georgetown, Ripley and Maysville. Such a line is being strongly agitated at all these points and if the movement proves successful it would give a direct route from the Ohio river to this city through a territory greatly or entirely lacking in railroad and transportation facilities, and connecting with the Appleyard line at this city would give a direct line from the Ohio river to Columbus, thus furnishing a much needed outlet from the territory mentioned to Northern Ohio points. Such a line would be the only Ohio railway line touching the Ohio river at any point between Portsmouth and Cincinnati.

With the Springfield and Washington C. H. line and the Appleyard line already arranged to terminate in this city, and the strong probability of the construction of this third line and also of the proposed line from Cincinnati, promoted by R. C. Swing, which has gained decided impetus in the past few weeks, both terminating or passing through this city, it can be readily seen that the arrangement of some system of terminals is imperative. The incoming of these lines, which seem to be the assured outgrowth of the electric line prospecting which has been rife in this section of the State for the past several years, would make this city a natural center of electric railway traffic, as it would be the connecting point of these four, and perhaps more, important lines, and the influx of traffic would demand accommodation.
